THREE CENTS

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT one of the most unique organizations Circleville ever had was a group called the "Brownie Princes," a jolly, fun-loving crowd, which enjoyed its best times in the 1890's. Commonly known as the "Brownies," the organization, boasting of a huge membership, held its meetings in the Knights of Pythias building, with George Edwards, a full-blooded Chinaman, as presiding officer.

Edwards was called "Hi-Muchi-Hi." Numbers of Circleville's present residents belonged to the "Brownies," and remember the jolly occasions sponsored by the group.

The prize event of the "Brownies" good times was the Fourth of July picnic which it sponsored at Senator Byron Lutz's grove on the waters of the canal, near Westfall, in 1898. This day's program drew one of the largest picnic gatherings ever recalled here.

Those who enjoyed this event went to the scene on canal boats, leaving the Circleville docks at 8 a. m. The "Brownie Fleet" consisted of the flagship, "Uncle Sam," and the armored cruisers, "Hi-Muchi-Hi," "George Washington Dewey," and "Hobson's Choice," according to a souvenir program of the occasion of Charles Gerhardt, this city, who participated in the event.

The passengers were protected by the following daring officers and crews.

The residential section of the eastern and southeastern parts of the town were visited Friday and a total of 118 ballots were cast. Mr. Sawyer and Mr. Donahey ran far ahead of their opponents for their respective nomination in this vote.

ALUMINUM MEN BEGIN WALKOUT

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11.—Production of aluminum merchandise in the Pittsburgh district and at other points throughout the country was suspended today when thousands of workers rallied to the support of a strike call issued by the National Council of Aluminum Workers.

Four thousand men and women workers deserted work benches at New Kensington, Logan's Ferry, and Arnold plant of the Mellon-controlled Aluminum Company of America plant. One thousand laborers joined the strike movement, causing a suspension of operations at Massena, N. Y.

This nation-wide walkout, which union leaders estimate will affect approximately 40,000 workers, was the national council's reply to the aluminum corporation's refusal to meet their labor demands.

REVISED FARM PLAN CERTAIN; SEE SHORTAGE

Drouth, Crop Reduction Cut Figures; No Danger Seen, However

5 PLANS OUTLINED

Crop Average 22 Per Cent 13-Year Mark

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Drastic revision of the farm relief program for the next crop year became a certainty today.

As official government reports showed a tremendous shrinkage in the nation's principal crops, due to drouth and crop reduction, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and his aides were mapping new plans to aid the farmer.

The department, it was announced, is now locating and buying seed supplies—a marked contrast to the crop reduction program of this year.

NEED SEED SUPPLY

The seed will be sold to farmers or given away through relief agencies. Unless the government aided, officials said, farmers in the drouth areas could not get good seed.

The crop failures of this year will give Secretary of Agriculture Wallace an opportunity to put into effect permanent agricultural planning. The surplus problem will be temporarily ended in many crops.

Higher prices for foodstuffs were conceded by Wallace after the government crop report for August was issued. The department, however, is prepared to halt food profiteering.

Among proposals for revision of present crop reduction plan are: Use of processing taxes as a bonus to assure farmer of parity price for products next year.

Payment of benefits for crop reduction on sub-marginal land, while production is being increased on good land.

Profit-Taking Hits Chicago Market; Corn Also Falls Limit.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Crashing values for grains, with losses running to 5 cents a bushel, overshadowed the treasury's overnight move to expand the currency through issuance of silver certificates based on the statutory price of $1.29 an ounce for the metal.

Mining shares made a temporary response to the news with an early run up running to $3 a share, but turned down later. The rest of the stock market was weak, railroad shares and U. S. Steel leading the decline, and a number of leading issues hit new 1934 lows.

A wave of profit-taking hit the Chicago grain pit following the sensational bullish government crop report, which put total yields at the lowest level in 25 years. This had been discounted in the rise of the last two weeks, and wheat slumped 5 cents a bushel, rye 5 cents, corn 4 cents and oats 3 cents, all the limit for one day.

OHIO'S CANDIDATES BEGIN FINAL DRIVES

COLUMBUS AID IS PLEDGED TO RIVER PROJECT

Chamber of Commerce Votes To Support Scioto Valley Conservancy.

Representatives of all cities and villages in the Scioto-Sandusky flood control and water conservation district will be notified soon to attend a meeting in Columbus where plans to establish a conservancy district will be drawn, it was learned here today.

Directors of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce voted, Friday, to support the project which would be a part of the $574,000,000 Ohio Valley program.

Pickaway-co has already been organized in an effort to advance the program and petitions seeking 500 names are now in circulation. Some of the petition-holders have not had the opportunity to get into action but others have obtained more than their quotas.

HOUSING PLAN GAINS BACKING

Gilliland Tells Meeting He Expects Committee To Be Named Soon.

Appointment of a local committee to investigate applications made here under the new federal housing program is expected within the next two weeks, Tom O. Gilliland, told a meeting in the court room last night, when the operation of the National Re-employment Service was also explained.

A small crowd heard the two talks made by Gilliland, who explained the housing program, and William Walsh, of Lima, NRS executive who discussed the employment service.

Homer Fullen presided at the meeting. Mr. Gilliland explained that no definite information had been received here yet concerning the local set-up, but said he expected appointment of a committee within the next two weeks. It is also probable, he said, that a speaker from Columbus will come here at that time and explain the operation of the program.

Discussing the operation of the NRS, Walsh praised its worth, pointing out that it was a free service, neither obligating the employer nor the employee. He said that during the existence of the local office, of which James T. Shea is manager, approximately 1,300 placements had been made out of a total of 2,300 registrations.

Mr. Walsh urged the citizens of Circleville to use the service declaring that it would be here as long as it was being used.

County Race End Is Near; Air Rumors

Candidates To Close Campaigns at Wayne-Twp Affair Monday.

As the primary campaign rapidly drew to a close Saturday, candidates worked desperately to end their drives for votes and prepared to enter the home stretch to await the decision of the voters on Tuesday.

Not for many years has Pickaway-co had such an interesting campaign as will close with the opening of the polls Tuesday morning, old time political observers say. Nearly every section of the county has representatives in the fight for one of the many elective offices to be filled.

MAN OR WOMAN

With nine Democrats waging a battle for the Democratic nomination for county recorder, this race continued to hold the limelight Saturday. Some observers predicted that the outcome would see a woman the victor, while others were just as positive that the Democratic nominee would be a man.

The fight for the Democratic nomination for county treasurer was also in doubt, the three candidates, Earl L. Hoffman, R. G. Colville, and Frank Anderson, working breathlessly as the campaign finish neared. The same was true in the sheriff's race between Charles H. Radcliff and John G. Ward, Jr.

Nearly all of the candidates expected to bring their campaigns to a close at an all-day meeting to be held on the Ben Metzger farm in Wayne-twp, Monday. A park, named in honor of President Roosevelt, will be opened on the Metzger farm near the Westfall school house, and all candidates, committeemen and their friends have been invited to attend. A fish fry during the day and dance in the evening have been planned by the sponsors.

FUND REPORTED

Rumors were floating over the county Friday and Saturday that a fund had been raised to back a slate of candidates and assure their victories at Tuesday's primary, but no verification of this report could be learned. One political observer pointed out that "the same talk starts before every primary."

The board of elections, Saturday, finished preparing the supplies for the 38 poll booths throughout the county and were checking over the 215 absent voters' ballots which had been returned to their office by noon Saturday.

Results of the primary will be known at the county auditor's office as soon as they are released by the board of elections. T. D. Krinn, deputy auditor, said today. It was also announced that the probate court office would be opened for the ladies to come and hear the returns.

Circleville voters will cast their ballots at the following places: First ward, west precinct, Charles Stofor's store, W. Main-st.; north precinct, Helwag's garage, N. Court-st.; east precinct, U. B. parish house, E. Main-st.; Second ward, east precinct, Woebler's garage; west precinct, the fire department.

Third ward, north precinct, the city building; south precinct, Ralston-Purina offices, Ohio and Court-sts.; Fourth ward, north precinct, George Limebaugh's store, and south precinct, Sears and Nichols Co.

SEN. FESS CONCEDED

Davey Centers Campaign in North Ohio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—With the bitter primary campaign ending, in the minds of a majority of the voters at least, tonight, candidates whose political fortunes rise or fall at the election next Tuesday, spent the day making final appeals for support.

As the scores of candidates neared the finish of a campaign that will go down in Ohio political annals as one of the most aggressive, no development appeared to clear the haze of uncertainty cloaking all but one of the class A races.

FESS SEEMS SURE

In the Republican contest for U. S. senator few impartial political observers gave anyone but the incumbent, Sen. Simeon D. Fess, much of a chance to win. This was not because Fess is without opposition within his own party, but rather because that opposition, while intense, is so evenly divided among the other candidates as to pale their chances.

No such circumstance marked the other three most important contests to be settled by the voters next Tuesday, the Democratic races for U. S. senator and governor, and the Republican contest for governor. Each was a "horse race" and promised to continue to be right down to the finish line.

Perhaps the bitterest of all the battles, involving the Democratic senatorial nomination, found Gov. George White pleading for votes in Cuyahoga-co., former Gov. James M. Cox went on the radio in Cincinnati to urge nomination of

U. S. Banks Holds Up Credits to Germany Until Debts Are Paid

WASHINGTON—George Peek's Import-Export Bank has made a very quiet but extremely important decision against credits to Germany until she settles her debts to American bondholders. Decision came after considerable debate, Peek favoring credits and Southern cotton men, who make large sales to Germany, supporting him. But Cordell Hull was adamantly opposed. He won. When the Import-Export Bank for Russia made a decision against credits to the Soviet, it had tremendous reverberations in the press. The German decision, even more important, has made hardly a ripple.

The Church Invites You

MY CHURCH

William Henry Boddy has said, "My church enriched my childhood with the romance of religion and the lessons of life that have been woven into the texture of my soul. In the stress and storm of adolescence my church heard the surge of my soul and guided my footsteps by lifting my eyes toward the stars. When first my heart knew the strange awakenings of love my church taught me to chasten and spiritualize my affections. She sanctified my marriage and blessed my home. When my heart was seamed with sorrow and I thought the sun could never shine again, my church drew me to the Friend of all the weary and whispered to me the hope of another morning—eternal and tearless. When my steps have slipped and I have known the bitterness of sin, my church has believed in me and called me back to live within the heights of myself. My church calls me to her heart. She asks my service and loyalty. She has a right to ask it. I will help her do for others what she has done for me."

Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Irish Laboratory
The River Shannon in Ireland is due for some intensive study by the Tennessee Valley Authority. David E. Lillenthal, executive of TVA is planning to visit the Irish Free State to see how the Irish Government distributes power from the Shannon. Roosevelt also has given some long distance study to the project through Irish Minister Mac-White.

When young Bob LaFollett was a student at the Capital's Western High School he sat next a girl during an exam on Chaucer's Canterbury Tales. She signaled for help. Bob came gallantly to the rescue, but the translation he gave her was wrong. Bob has stuck to politics ever since. (The Logan (Iowa) "Observer," enumerating the benefits of the President's plan for planting a thousand-mile belt of trees, writes: "No special mention is made of the happiness it may bring to a few million dogs.")

Infinitive Ikes
Not content with buying tremendous quantities of scrap iron from the United States, a Japanese vessel put in at the Virgin Islands recently and hoisted all the junked iron and old vessels sunk in a ship graveyard. It was the first Japanese ship seen in these waters in years. Next to dishonesty in government, Secretary of Interior Ikes hates a split infinitive. Once he nearly fired a man for drifting a letter from him to sign which contained split infinitive. But one of Ikes' assistants later caught him warning against the use of "a preposition to end a sentence with." The Devil Dogs are peeved because nine rear admirals have been appointed to select three brigadier generals of the Marine Corps for promotion to be Major Generals. The Marines want to know what the Navy knows about real fighting, also why it should take nine rear admirals to select three brigadier generals. Finally the Devil Dogs point out that this promotion job should have been left to retired Marine Corps major generals such as John A. Lejeune, Robert Woods Bliss, ex-Ambassador to Argentina, gives his guests paper towels when they use his spacious swimming pool.

The Bible looks you over by Phelps, The Judson Press, is a compilation of 33 essays which help us see ourselves in the light of some of the less familiar characters of the Bible, revealing a modern Christian philosophy of life.

Church Forum

Is Newspaper Advertising a Good Investment for Churches? At recent meeting of the editorial council of the Religious Press the following facts were reported: The most successful business advertisers continue to spend more money in newspapers than in any other medium. The church should be equally wise. The church has the best things in life to offer humanity, the saving and regenerating gospel of Jesus Christ. To reach all of the public with its message it ought to supplement its regular established church channels by using the public press, religious and secular that medium which has been demonstrated to be instantly effective for powerful and permanent persuasion of the people, a medium also which gives greatest material values for each dollar invested. Press and pulpit united in a Christianity crusade can pull mankind out of the abyss of sin, sorrow and suffering. Church news has a legitimate claim on news columns, but in addition the church ought to use paid advertising space liberally. In Japan newspaper evangelism has for several years been a success.

World Religious News

The National Council of Federated Church Women recently held its sixth annual conference in Kansas City, Mo. It was organized 6 years ago in Buffalo, N. Y., by a group of thirty church women in response to a need of unifying Protestant womanhood. It has grown to 2200 organizations with a membership of 23,000,000 women. The next meeting will be in Rochester, N. Y.

The executive committee of the World's Student Christian Federation will hold its annual session from Aug. 10-14 at La Chataigniere near Geneva preceded by an international Student Conference at which the principal subject will be "Evangelization."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York has gone to Europe where as American delegate he will attend the meetings in Geneva of the International Jewish Congress Aug. 20-21.

The ninth World's Christian Endeavor Convention will be held in Budapest, Hungary in August 1935. Budapest is a city of one million inhabitants and has one of the most remarkable Christian Endeavor Unions in the world. Recent discoveries of pottery by an expedition into southern Transjordan seems to put the date of the Exodus of the Israelites from Egypt in the 13th century B. C. instead of the 15th as has been held by many Bible students. The expedition also found rich deposits of copper and iron ore, which they believe were one of the sources of the vast wealth of King Solomon.

Lesson for August 12

AMOS PLEADED FOR JUSTICE

LESSON TEXT—Amos 5:1-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law. Romans 13:10.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Good Preacher and a Bad King.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Country Boy Who Became a Great Preacher.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Standing for God Against the Crowd.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Social Justice as a Universal Duty.

I. Israel's Desolation Predicted (v. 1-3).

1. The prophet's lamentation (v. 1). Amos lamented over the doom which was to overtake the nation. The prophet is thus represented as entering into the sorrow which was to overtake Israel.

2. The nation's utter desolation and helplessness (vv. 2, 3). Israel is called a virgin because she had never been subdued by any foreign nation (Isa. 23:12). Her falling, no more to rise, sets forth utter desolation and helplessness to which the Assyrians subjected the nation.

II. The Urgent Call for the People to Return to God (vv. 4-9).

God through the prophet said, "Seek ye me and ye shall live." The implication is that while as yet the divine judgments are not executed, an opportunity is offered for them to turn to God. The time to repent is while judgment is stayed. In their turning to God they were called.

1. To renounce idolatry (vv. 5, 6). They were to turn away from the places of idolatry—Bethel, Gilgal, and Beer-sheba. The judgment of God was to strike these places. He urged them the second time to seek the Lord, promising them life. He made it clear on the other hand that if they would not come to the Lord for life he would be their destroyer.

2. To cease to pervert judgment (v. 7).

"Turn judgment to worm-wood" implies the bitterness to the injured of the perversion of justice.

3. To cease to detest righteousness (vv. 7-9).

"Leaving off righteousness" means that unrighteousness was allowed to take its place. For the third time he urged them to seek the Lord. In this exhortation the Lord's name is given, with a statement of some of his works.

a. "Maketh the seven stars and Orion."

b. "Turneth the shadow of death into the morning."

c. "Maketh the day dark with night."

d. "Callest for the waters of the sea, and pourest them out upon the face of the earth" both in rain and in deluge.

e. "Strengtheneth the spoiled against the strong."

III. The Sins Committed by the Wicked Nation (vv. 10-13).

1. They hated the judge who condemned their wicked practices (v. 10).

2. They abhorred him that spoke uprightly (v. 10). This probably refers to the prophets themselves.

3. They trampled upon the poor (v. 11). The rich, built magnificent houses out of the gains extorted from the poor, but the prophet assured them that God would not permit them to live in the houses nor drink of the wine thereof.

4. They afflicted the just (v. 12). This they did by taking a bribe. What a picture this of our own time!

5. They turned aside the poor in the gate (v. 12). Because the poor had no money they were turned aside. The times were so evil that the prudent would best keep silent.

IV. The Prophet's Plea for Repentance (vv. 14, 15).

No condition in the world, religious, social, or political, can become so difficult that the righteous are shut off from help. The righteous can

1. Seek God (v. 14). Those who seek God shall have with them the Lord of Hosts.

2. Hate the evil (v. 15). It is not enough merely to love the good; evil must be hated.

3. Establish judgment in the gate (v. 15). It was the custom in that day for the courts of justice to sit in the gate of the city. The prophet urged upon them the responsibility of placing honorable men in charge of public affairs.

V. The Judgment to Fall (vv. 16-20).

There is a coming day of retribution. Justice and right shall be vindicated. This will be realized in the day of the Lord (II Thess. 1:7-10). (James 5:7). All wrong shall be righted at that time.

VI. Worship Which God Hates (vv. 21-27).

Sacrifices, observance of feast days, and even singing when the heart is out of fellowship with God is most displeasing to him. Worship without holiness of life is an abomination to God.

Thankfulness

A childlike thankfulness maketh us love our Father more than his gift, and desire to be with him, in his arms.—Richard Baxter.

The Price of Success

At the close of one of Mr. Padewski's concerts an enthusiastic listener rushed up to him and exclaimed, "Oh, Mr. Padewski, what a great genius you are!" The great pianist answered, "Madam, I have no genius. When I was a child I did not enjoy music and I was backward in it. I have reached my present efficiency by many hours of hard practice."

Henry Clay when a boy at school dreaded above all else to speak before the class, yet he in time became one of the greatest orators of his time.

A New English girl, Louis Alcott disliked other girls and had no love for writing, but forced to earn some money, wrote a book for girls "Little Women" that became a best seller.

Many other examples could be named of these who have made success in spite of many obstacles and with no more than ordinary native talent.

Welch For Congress

Nominate a man who can be elected in November and a man you know will give Circleville and Pickaway County a square deal.

Well qualified. Eighteen years experience in educational work as teacher and public speaker.

Two years special training in legislative work.

Mr. Welch is State Representative in Ohio Legislature. Endorsed by Chairman of Labor, of Agriculture, and Schools of Ohio Legislature. Endorsed by Democratic Floor Leader Ohio Legislature, and other prominent Democratic Leaders in the State.

Cooperative with President Roosevelt and has helped to make his program possible in Ohio.

The feeling is pronounced against Mr. Underwood for a seventh term, and it is agreed that it is time to give someone else a chance.

It is conceded that Mr. Welch is the logical candidate and that he is the man to nominate, because he can be elected in November.

Mr. Welch was born in Circleville, has real estate here and has been a tax payer here for more than 30 years. No one will be willing to do more for Circleville and Pickaway County than Mr. Welch.

OHIO, 11TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Thanks to my legion of loyal friends, I am in the lead. Your efforts and support are highly appreciated.

To the Voters of Pickaway County:

Due to the impossibility of seeing every voter personally before the Primary election, because of the fact that my office demands constant attention, I desire to issue the following statement to all the voters of Pickaway-co:

During my term of office as Sheriff of Pickaway County I have conscientiously endeavored to give the people of this county an efficient, honest and economical administration. I have attempted to aid the taxpayers by operating the office economically as possible. In feeding the prisoners I have used nothing but Pickaway County goods whenever possible.

No major crime committed during my administration remains unsolved. Through the efficiency of my deputies, evidence against various criminals has been so strong that in the greatest majority of the cases they have pleaded guilty, thereby saving the county much in court costs, jury fees and witness fees.

I have made every effort to treat all persons alike in enforcing the laws of this State, and to cooperate successfully with all city, county and state officials.

I rely entirely upon the record of my administration as an enforcer of the law, and your support will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,

Southern Ohio's Candidate for Lieutenant Governor

MILTON S. COX

which he served in the same capacity for the Santa Fe, Northern Pacific and the government in the construction of the nitro explosive plant at Nitro, West Virginia.

Born in a log cabin in Richland township, educated in a one room rural school and at an early age secured a teacher's certificate and began his professional work in a one room school where all grades were taught with phenomenal success. With dogged perseverance he climbed step by step to higher accomplishments in his educational work and crowned his career with a course at the Ohio State University.

The love of the vine clad hills of Southern Ohio was a magnet that could not be withstood and he returned to make his home amid the scenes of his childhood. He again returned to his early profession and served with distinction as superintendent of the McArthur schools and as county superintendent for many years. He was selected as Deputy Prohibition Commissioner by Governor White and filled the position creditably until the department was discontinued. At this time he was transferred to the State Tax Commission with which he is now associated and holds a responsible position.

His ability, honesty and sterling worth were so well appreciated that he was elected to the 73rd General Assembly from the Hocking-Vinton district. Later he entered railroad service in the capacity of yardmaster for the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad and was promoted to general yardmaster of the Wabash-Pittsburgh terminal at Pittsburgh after

Southern Ohio is pleased with the splendid achievements of this loyal son and will speak its appreciation on Tuesday, August 14th, 1934.

Sawyer for Governor

THE Herald believes that the Democrats of Ohio should nominate Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati for governor.

There are three other candidates for the post, William G. Pickrel of Dayton; Martin L. Davey of Kent, and Charles H. Hubbell of Cleveland. The latter seeks office quite frequently, but he apparently is unable to make any impression upon the voters.

Both Mr. Davey and Mr. Pickrel have followings over the state built up through several political campaigns.

By any candid comparison of qualities which fit men for the office of governor, however, it seems to us that Sawyer of Cincinnati outweighs them all.

He got into Cincinnati politics on the reform side in the days when to advocate good government in that city was hazardous and usually fruitless. He served as a minority reform member and leader of the Council. He ran as a good government candidate for mayor and came near election.

Years later he ran for Congress in a Republican district and some fancy miscounting of ballots was necessary to defeat him.

Mr. Sawyer served his country on the fighting line in France. His introduction to state politics came two years ago when he was elected lieutenant governor. His elevation to the governorship would be a logical promotion based on manifest merit.

Were Sawyer elected to the executive office he would enter on its duties with a full understanding of the city man's point of view concerning matters of state. He knows what it means to fight for good government.

This does not mean, of course, that Charles Sawyer lacks understanding of the problems which especially affect the smaller communities and less populous counties. He is a farmer as well as lawyer and knows from direct contact what the problems of agriculture and country life really are.

These eminent qualifications, The Herald believes, fully qualify Mr. Sawyer for the office of governor.

County Has Chance

PICKAWAY-CO has an opportunity Tuesday to assure itself real representation in the next national Congress. Two Pickaway-county men are candidates for Congress: John F. Mader on the Democratic ticket and Renick W. Dunlap on the Republican ticket.

The opportunity is the first that has been presented voters of this community in years and we believe the electors should take advantage of it by nominating Mr. Mader and Mr. Dunlap to carry the banners of their respective parties in November.

Mr. Mader has not been backward about announcing a fixed program which he is using persistently in conducting his campaign; Mr. Dunlap's ability as an aide in two Republican national administrations should assure his nomination by his Republican friends.

SYNOPSIS

In the little village of Pine Knob, in the Ozarks, "Uncle Jimmy" Cartwright laboriously rides his mule toward Ann Haskel's house, speculating on the possibility of "refreshments," when he comes upon Diane Carrol painting the landscape. Though born to wealth, Diane, like her late father, is indifferent to society. She is seriously interested in art and leading a useful life. Diane accepted a friend's invitation to visit Wilderness Club in the Ozarks upon learning that she could paint there and do just as she pleased. "Uncle Jimmy" and Diane take to each other instantly. He is surprised upon learning she is a New Yorker, to find her just like "home folks." As they talk, Ann Haskel, a typical backwoods character, appears on a big bay horse. The old mountaineer informs Diane that Ann practically runs that part of the country. Ann lives on a farm with her stepson, Jeff Todd, an "ornery cuss," and Nance Jordan, her housekeeper. Years ago, following the death of her first husband, Ed Haskel, Ann sent her young son, John Herbert, away. No one dared ask where or why, but they remembered it was about that time that Judge Shannon, a family friend, stopped visiting. Later, Ann married Jerry Todd who was killed by a revenue officer. Following his death, Ann resumed the name of Haskel.

"Uncle Jimmy" leaves Diane with the warning not to ask too many questions about the inhabitants. In the days that follow, Diane has the uncomfortable feeling that she is being watched by Ann Haskel. Pappy Giles, the postmaster, tells Diane that—although some folks consider Ann fearless, suspicious and cruel—there was one time when she looked like an angel to him. He was ill and his wife an invalid, with no one to care for them, and Ann had come generously laden with food and medicine. Pappy relates a story of how Ann routed the Swamp Valley night riders, a gang of vicious bullies, who they came to "get their school-master who was suspected unjustly of being a revenue officer."

CHAPTER VI.

"And did they?" cried Diane, with breathless interest. "Did they go?"

"Yes'm, they sure did. Thar warn't nothin' else fer 'em to do. Ann Haskel, she was the one who routed the Swamp Valley night-riders, too."

"But how could one woman—alone—with a crowd like that—Heavens!"

"Don't nobody know rightly how Ann does it—hit's jest her way. 'Course after that night she made all the decent folks her ag'in hit the riders. 'Bout four year after hit war all over an' four or five years after that she had 'em all."

"But how could one woman—alone—with a crowd like that—Heavens!"

"Ann's a ridin' that same big bay horse with the blazed face you—as mebbe, you've noticed. Horse is a-ridin' a little old, but he's good yet. So's Ann."

One afternoon, as she worked near the Haskel place, Diane saw the bay horse feeding in the yard. Realizing that Ann must be at home, she went up to the long house and knocked at the door. There was no answer, but she heard, or imagined that she heard, low voices and people moving within. She knocked again. All was quiet as if the place were deserted. Again she knocked, this time with more vigor. The door opened cautiously, just wide enough for Nance Jordan to stand forbiddingly on the threshold.

Nance was a tall, raw-boned, middle-aged woman of the backwoods, dressed in the dingy mother-hubbard, black cotton stockings, and heavy shoes that such women wear. With her stringy, ash-colored hair, faded eyes, and characterless mouth, she seemed almost to belong among the dumb four-footed animals of the farm. Without a word, she stood staring suspiciously at the girl who had dared to invade the Haskel premises.

Diane smiled up at her pleasantly. "I beg pardon for disturbing you, but I am frightfully thirsty. Might I have a drink of water? I forgot to bring a canteen and it is so warm today."

Nance gazed at the artist vacantly, as if she had not heard a word.

"So sorry I troubled you," said the baffled Diane, and was turning away, when a voice within said, sharply, "Give her a drink."

"I'll fetch hit," said Nance, and, closing the door, she left Diane standing dubiously on the outside.

"Speaking of hospitality," muttered the artist to herself, and, nibbling the short grass of the yard with a fine air of indifference to her presence.

The door opened again and Nance warily thrust a gourd dipper of water toward the beggar at the Haskel gates.

Diane, who was now more than ever intrigued by the situation, drank leisurely. "So good of you," she murmured between slow draughts. "What delicious water! From a spring, is it? Or have you a well?"

There was no answer from the hostile Nance.

"I have often wanted to meet Mrs. Haskel, is she at home?"

No answer.

"I saw her horse in the yard and I thought—"

The watchful Nance broke her silence: "Ann's somewhars 'round, I reckon. Down to the bottom field, mebbe, or up in the hill pasture. I don't know. She's likely to be anywhere."

The closed door effectually put an end to the conversation.

An hour later Diane saw the woman riding toward the Lodge, and that evening they told her Ann had been there and had asked many questions about "that there woman who's allus a-paintin' pitchers 'round the neighborhood."

But while Diane, so far, had failed to meet Ann Haskel, she saw more than enough of Jeff Todd. And this young backwoodsman that the Haskel woman had raised in the place of her own was not at all the sort of person Diane would have chosen willingly for even a casual acquaintance. Like Nance Jordan, Jeff was of the lowest type of native "poor white," but unlike her lean ill-bred face had a bad-dog look. Even when he grinned with what he meant to be an expression of friendliness his countenance was vicious.

The fellow began honoring Diane with his attention the day after Uncle Jimmie and Ahab made their introductory visit, and Diane, reflecting that Ann must have seen the gray mule and his master on that occasion, wondered if there was any connection between the life of the old mountaineer's friendliness for her and Jeff Todd's interest.

Wherever she worked he was sure to appear. She never heard his approaching step and scarcely ever glimpsed him in the woods or knew that he was near until she suddenly discovered him standing there. Then he would greet her with a drawing "howdy," and a facial contortion which he evidently hoped she would accept as a friendly smile. Nor did he ever make much of an effort to engage her in conversation. Seated on the ground, he merely watched her as she worked and favored her with that leering grin whenever she chanced to glance in his direction. At last, with the remark, "Wal, I reckon I'd best be a-gettin' back to my work, 'fore Ann ketches me a-lazyin' 'round with you," he would disappear in the woods as silently as he had come.

If she went for a walk along the river or through the woods, she met him. When she went to the store he was sure to drop in before she left.

Diane, by nature, was fearless. She felt quite capable of taking care of herself in almost any situation. She had been alone in many queer corners of the world. But Jeff Todd, she admitted, gave her "the creeps." She was careful to refrain from making any offer of conversation. Several times she hinted that she preferred to be alone. She even said that for anyone to watch her painting disturbed her. She could have suggested to a poison-ivy vine that she disliked the presence of the plant with the same effect. Finally she told him bluntly that he annoyed her and asked him to stay away.

"If you got time fer Pappy Giles an' old Uncle Jimmie Cartwright, you sure can take time fer me," he returned, coolly. "I'm a heap the best man in these hear parts. If you ain't believin' hit, jest you ask anybody."

Early one morning Diane followed the trail down the wooded about every part of the United States and Canada.

Most of them plan to stay right where they are—and that may improve the beauty aspects of Hollywood's own children in the next generation. But, right now, the percentage of home-grown products is pretty small.

Lew Brown and Sammy Lee found all this out while picking show girls for the big Fox film musical, "Stand Up and Cheer!" soon to be seen at the Grand Theater. Brown is associate producer; Lee, dance director. Both have enviable reputations on Broadway—and both know their feminine pulchritude.

ABOUT DAVEY

When Martin L. Davey turned in his petition signed by 136,000 friends it was like a bomb in the enemies camp. His enemies, the opponents, then realized something and everything had to be done to over come this magnificent lead.

Then commenced the scandalization, the accusations, and last but by no means least, someone even practiced forgery. Many mean things have been resorted to, to pull votes from this noble gentleman Martin L. Davey. Davey has never at any time used any "Rot" he has carried on as clean a campaign as was ever put on. Why not vote for a gentleman of this type. How nice it always is to think and know you have voted for and helped put in office a gentleman.

BOHNERT WRITES

I wish to correct Mr. Leist's statements in his article published in your Aug. 6 issue relative to the Bohnert letter and circulars.

Paragraph 2 of the Bohnert letter and circulars state: "Of the ten county offices to be filled this November, Circleville is asking for all, except county commissioner, which is a re-nomination for second term." I did not state that all candidates except county commissioners are from Circleville as he stated, knowingly untrue.

Circleville is asking for Common Pleas Judge, Clerk of Courts, Treasurer, Sheriff, Auditor, Coroner, Prosecuting attorney, has seven candidates for recorder and three for representative. This makes nine of the ten county offices to be elected this fall. The county outside of Circleville has one candidate for representative, two for recorder and the re-nomination for commissioner. Of the hold-over offices Circleville has surveyor and probate judge. The county has two commissioners.

I believe that party interests are greater than the selfish political interests of individuals or the greed of any one section of the county.

Not to be taken serious. What if the Democrats or the Republicans drop all of their state nominations in one section of the state? Don't you think it would be serious for the party that did it, in November? The same applies to county politics.

I would be the last to question C. A. Leist's intent as to party loyalty and devotion, but he is only human. But when it comes to active devotion to the party I think that I have a record that is hard to beat, since I've years of age (except the first two years in Montana) I have put in full time at the polls, every year, working for the ticket, without any expense to the party or any candidate, and two years ago when I had no opposition I spent several days riding the county at my own expense working for the weak candidate on the ticket. Has Mr. Leist done as well? Whoever the Democrat nominated for recorder, representatives, sheriff, treasurer and so on down the line, will find me riding the county at my own expense for the weak nominations. Will Mr. Leist do the same?

I agree with Clinty that petty differences between city and county affects the ticket. That is why I wrote my timely warning, Circleville hogging all the nominations will create serious political differences for the ticket in November.

The Republican politicians of this county are not eighth grade pupils like most of the Democrat politicians of the county. The Republicans have been trained by one of the best politicians that the county has ever produced they will not center on the poorest offices, it will be for the offices that give the most prestige and most patronage, weakness of the candidate considered, of course. They know that if they try to elect too many, it lessens their chance to elect any.

My being four times honored by the election of both city and county is the result of always trying to be fair and always on the square.

A voter is not interested in what a candidate was born, raised or schooled, it is their ability and where they reside when a candidate that interests the voter.

NATHAN BOHNERT.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Circleville, Ohio, August 11, 1934

The Circleville Herald, Circleville, Ohio,

Dear Sir:

Conditions existing at present in the three-cornered race for the governorship of Ohio as far as the Democratic nomination is concerned, have made it paramount that loyal Democrats must center on the one candidate, and the ONLY one candidate who is unquestionably capable of uniting the great Democratic party in November. Democracy must speak its own mind at this time, before disaster strikes on August 14.

Charles Sawyer is the one candidate that Democracy must center on in this coming primary, the one candidate who can present a united assault in November that no G. O. P. standard-bearer can override. Charles Sawyer must be nominated to save Democracy from defeat in November.

In the opinion of all, yes all unbiased observers, Mr. Sawyer will surely head the ticket with unprecedented strength. For this there must be a reason—not one, but many.

First, in 1932, after Mr. William G. Pickrel had received the confidence of his party by being nominated by it for the lieutenant governorship of Ohio, he withdrew. Mr. Sawyer was drafted by Democracy to fill this breach. Two months later, he was elected by a larger majority than any lieutenant governor in the history of the state. It has been brought to my attention that Mr. Pickrel became panic-stricken by the G. O. P. nomination of David S. Ingalls. Mr. Pickrel feared the good ship Democracy would founder before the avalanche of Ingalls dollars, consequently, his "withdrawal." I ask you, can you support Mr. Pickrel after he has exhibited such an inferiority complex?

At this time, Charles Sawyer showed the backbone of a super-fearless leader, with a fighting spirit, and affable smile, that overcame all obstacles and endeared him to all Democracy. The real spirit of the soldier he was in 1917 and 1918.

The other prominent candidate for the gubernatorial nomination is Mr. Martin L. Davey. Mr. Davey's claim to the right to represent the Democratic party in November embodies a wholesale attack upon the party leaders and the press of Ohio. Mr. Davey points with pride to his great show of strength in securing 130,000 signatures affixed to his nominating petitions. After painstaking inquiry, I find that Mr. Davey mailed out 50,000 such petitions, so the average number of names on each petition would only be a fraction over two to bring the total to 130,000. Fellow Democrats, this procedure is not tested strength. Mr. Pickrel and Mr. Sawyer, together, mailed out only 700 petitions in the state.

Mr. Davey also produces a lengthy, incoherent statement which he calls his platform. This statement is so contradictory in itself that further comment is unnecessary.

So, Mr. and Mrs. Democratic Voter, do not be misled by this unfounded platform of promises, of which it has been fittingly said, will cure all "from dandruff to fallen arches."

In conclusion, Charles Sawyer has so conducted his campaign as to offend no one, and is the only candidate who can possibly gain the united support of all Democrats, and carry both Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties, normally Republican, in November. The Democratic party of Ohio must unite and vote for Charles Sawyer on August 14, and be assured of victory in November.

INTERESTING FACTS

CONCERNING THE MAN WHO IS ASKING TO Be OHIO'S NEXT U. S. SENATOR

Economy in Government

Upon a corner stone of economy in government, George White has built a record of two terms in governorship, greater than in any like period in Ohio's history. After his predecessor had set an ALL-TIME HIGH total of $88,889,270 for cash operating expenditures of the state in 1930, George White reduced the figure to $79,242,937 in 1931, to $73,520,019 in 1932 and to $60,286,900 in 1933. To effect such economies, reductions in salaries of state employees and in administrative expense of state offices were applied and the cost of state government in Ohio under George White has been cut from $13.81 under his predecessor to $7.92 per capita, according to U. S. Department of Commerce figures, THE LOWEST OF ANY STATE IN THE UNION.

Fight for Schools

George White has continuously waged a vigorous battle in the Legislature for OHIO'S SCHOOLS, and by presenting an emergency school financing plan in the Special Session of the Legislature last June, HE HAS MADE AVAILABLE FUNDS TO MEET THE SCHOOL EMERGENCY.

This plan provides for:—

1. Re-enactment of the liquid fuel tax to be distributed upon the basis of average daily attendance in public schools.
2. Legislation correcting the statutes to conform to the ten mill limitation so schools would be enabled to levy taxes with which to operate during 1935.
3. Making available funds for the purpose of financing weak school districts during the remainder of 1934.
4. Legislation permitting state aid school districts to borrow against anticipated revenues for the purpose of paying teachers' salaries and bills to July 1, 1934.

Minimum Wage Law

Another outstanding contribution of Ohio to the Roosevelt recovery program was the passage of a STATE MINIMUM WAGE LAW. This act, regulating employment of women and girls and prohibiting sweat shop evils, was advocated by George White to benefit workers in industries.

Taxes

A necessity for new taxes is due solely to the plight of local sub-divisions caused by the reduction of the 15 mill tax on real estate, the reduction in the tax duplicate amounting to 1-3 the value and tax delinquencies which have reached the amazing proportion of $200,000,000. Recognizing the necessity for the raising of funds to replace these losses, George White advocated the placing of a tax upon utilities, income, and a sales tax as the basis for a definite program.

Public Utilities

Utility companies, during three and one-half years of George White's Administration have been ordered to refund $16,575,387.00 to consumers. Compare this with the six year administration of Vic Donahey, when ordered refunds amounted to only $194,985.00, or with the two year administration of Myers Y. Cooper when ordered refunds amounted to $115,417.00 and the two year administration of Harry L. Davis when ordered refunds amounted to only $26,300.00. Refunds ordered by the Public Utilities Commission represent charges for excessive rates collected by utilities and these excesses are ordered to

Building-Loan Legislation

Ohio was the first state with its legislature convened in special session by George White to consider building and loan laws made possible by the new federal provision for insurance of deposits and shares in such financial institutions. Assured of the passage of this act and the housing act for small home owners as part of the Roosevelt program, George White immediately summoned the legislature for the purpose of making available to Ohioans AT THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT ALL OF THE BENEFITS intended by Congress. Other laws passed at his request to assist distressed home owners had empowered courts to halt the sale of real estate under foreclosure until 1935.

Old Age Pension System

George White vigorously advocated adoption of the initiated pension proposal when it was submitted to the voters. Approval of the plan by the electorate was followed quickly by establishment of an old age pension division in the state welfare department, from which PENSION CHECKS HAVE ALREADY BEEN SENT OUT.

Relief for the Distressed

At the outset of the economic crisis, George White set up a State Relief Commission whose operations in providing direct relief, employment and other aids has enabled Ohio among the first to swing into action in making effective that New Deal relief project, UNDER GEORGE WHITE'S LEADERSHIP JOBS WERE PROVIDED within 27 days FOR 247,000 OHIO MEN AND WOMEN who formerly had been on state, federal or community relief rolls.

be returned to the users. In some cases these orders necessitated a reduction in rates. AN ADDITIONAL TAX, YIELDING $15,000,000.00 sponsored by George White, was placed on public utilities in Ohio designed to provide sufficient funds for the destitute citizens of Ohio.

THREE CENTS

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT one of the most unique organizations Circleville ever had was a group called the "Brownie Princes," a jolly, fun-loving crowd, which enjoyed its best times in the 1890's. Commonly known as the "Brownies," the organization, boasting of a huge membership, held its meetings in the Knights of Pythias building, with George Edwards, a full-blooded Chinaman, as presiding officer. Edwards was called "Hi-Muchi-Hi." Numbers of Circleville's present residents belonged to the "Brownies," and remember the jolly occasions sponsored by the group.

The prize event of the "Brownies" was the Fourth of July picnic which it sponsored at Senator Byron Lutz's grove on the waters of the canal, near Westfall, in 1898. This day's program drew one of the largest picnic gatherings ever recalled here.

Those who enjoyed this event went to the scene on canal boats, leaving the Circleville docks at 8 a. m. The "Brownie Fleet" consisted of the flagship, "Uncle Sam," and the armored cruisers, "Hi-Muchi-Hi," "George Washington," "Hobson's Choice," according to a souvenir program of the occasion of Charles Gerhardt, this city, who participated in the event.

The passengers were protected by the following daring officers and crews.

The residential section of the eastern and southeastern parts of the town were visited Friday and a total of 118 ballots were cast. Mr. Sawyer and Mr. Donahey ran far ahead of their opponents for their respective nomination in this vote.

REVISED FARM PLAN CERTAIN; SEE SHORTAGE

Drouth, Crop Reduction Cut Figures; No Danger Seen, However

5 PLANS OUTLINED

Crop Average 22 Per Cent 13-Year Mark

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Drastic revision of the farm relief program for the next crop year became a certainty today.

As official government reports showed a tremendous shrinkage in the nation's principal crops, due to drouth and crop reduction, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and his aides were mapping new plans to aid the farmer.

The department, it was announced, is now locating and buying seed supplies—a marked contrast to the crop reduction program of this year.

NEED SEED SUPPLY
The seed will be sold to farmers or given away through relief agencies. Unless the government aided, officials said, farmers in the drouth areas could not get good seed.

The crop failures of this year will give Secretary of Agriculture Wallace an opportunity to put into effect permanent agricultural planning. The surplus problem will be temporarily ended in many crops.

Higher prices for foodstuffs were conceded by Wallace after the government crop report for August was issued. The department, however, is prepared to halt food profiteering.

Among proposals for revision of present crop reduction plan are: Use of processing taxes as a bonus to assure farmer of parity price for products next year.

Payment of benefits for crop reduction on sub-marginal land, while production is being increased on good land.

Use of government funds to restore native grasses, turn grain

Profit-Taking Hits Chicago Market; Corn Also Falls Limit.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Crashing values for grains, with losses running to 5 cents a bushel, overshadowed the treasury's overnight move to expand the currency through issuance of silver certificates based on the statutory price of $1.29 an ounce for the metal.

Mining shares made a temporary response to the news with an early run up running to $3 a share, but turned down later. The rest of the stock market was weak, railroad shares and U. S. steel leading the decline, and a number of leading issues hit new 1934 lows.

A wave of profit-taking hit the Chicago grain pit following the sensational bullish government report, which put total yields at the lowest level in 25 years. This had been discounted in the rise of the last two weeks, and wheat slumped 5 cents a bushel, 5 cents, corn 4 cents and oats 3 cents, all the limit for one day.

Chamber of Commerce Votes To Support Scioto Valley Conservancy.

Representatives of all cities and villages in the Scioto-Sandusky flood control and water conservation district will be notified soon to attend a meeting in Columbus where plans to establish a conservancy district will be drawn, it was learned here today.

Directors of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce voted, Friday, to support the project which would be a part of the $574,000,000 Ohio Valley program.

Pickaway-co. has already been organized in an effort to advance the program and petitions seeking 500 names are now in circulation. Some of the petition-holders have not had the opportunity to get into action but others have obtained more than their quotas.

MORGAN TO ATTEND

A. E. Morgan, president of the Dayton Morgan Engineering Co., was requested to attend a meeting Tuesday in Columbus when the Chamber of Commerce will make plans to call in the representatives of the various counties for a conference. Morgan's firm engineered the Miami valley conservancy project.

Aid of officials of the Muskingum valley water conservation district has been requested.

HOUSING PLAN GAINS BACKING

Gilliland Tells Meeting He Expects Committee To Be Named Soon.

Appointment of a local committee to investigate applications made here under the new federal housing program is expected within the next two weeks, Tom O. Gilliland, told a meeting in the court room last night when the operation of the National Reemployment Service was also explained.

A small crowd heard the two talks made by Gilliland, who explained the housing program, and William Walsh, of Lima, NRS executive, who discussed the employment service.

Homier Fullen presided at the meeting.

Mr. Gilliland explained that no definite information had been received here yet concerning the local set-up, but said he expected appointment of a committee within the next two weeks. It is also probable, he said, that a speaker from Columbus will come here at that time and explain the operation of the program.

Discussing the operation of the NRS, Walsh said it was a free service, neither obligating the employer nor the employee. He said that during the existence of the local office, of which James T. Shea is manager, approximately 1,300 placements had been made out of a total of 2,300 registrations.

Mr. Walsh urged the citizens of Circleville to use the service, claiming that it would be here as long as it was being used.

County Race End Is Near; Air Rumors

Candidates To Close Campaigns at Wayne-Twp. Affair Monday.

As the primary campaign rapidly drew to a close Saturday, candidates worked desperately to end their drives for votes and prepared to enter the home stretch to await the decision of the voters on Tuesday.

Not for many years has Pickaway-co. had such an interesting campaign as will close with the opening of the polls Tuesday morning, old time political observers say. Nearly every section of the county has representatives in the fight for one of the many elective offices to be filled.

MAN OR WOMAN

With nine Democrats waging a battle for the Democratic nomination for county recorder, this race continued to hold the limelight Saturday. Some observers predicted that the outcome would see a woman the victor, while others were just as positive that the Democratic nominee would be a man.

The fight for the Democratic nomination for county treasurer was also in doubt, the three candidates, Earl L. Holman, R. G. Colville, and Frank Anderson, working breathlessly as the campaign finish neared. The same was true in the sheriff's race between Charles H. Radcliff and John G. Ward, Jr.

Nearly all of the candidates expect to bring their campaigns to a close at an all-day meeting to be held on the Ben Metzger farm in Wayne-twp. Monday. A park, named in honor of President Roosevelt, will be opened on the Metzger farm near the Western school house, and all candidates, committeemen and their friends have been invited to attend. A fish fry during the day and dance in the evening have been planned by the sponsors.

FUND REPORTED

Rumors were floating over the county Friday and Saturday that a fund had been raised to back a slate of candidates and assure their victories at Tuesday's primary, but no verification of this report could be learned. One political observer pointed out that "the same talk starts before every primary."

The board of elections, Saturday, finished preparing the supplies for the 38 poll booths throughout the county and were checking over the 215 absent voters' ballots which had been returned to their office by noon Saturday.

Results of the primary will be known at the county auditor's office as soon as they are released by the board of elections. T. D. Krinn, deputy auditor, said today.

It was also announced that the probate court office would be opened for the ladies to come and hear the returns.

Circleville voters will cast their ballots at the following places:

First ward, west precinct, Charles Stoffer's store, W. Main-st.; north precinct, Helwacen's garage, N. Court-st.; east precinct, U. B. parish house, E. Main-st.

Second ward, east precinct, Woeber's garage, west precinct, the fire department.

Third ward, north precinct, the city building; south precinct, Ralston-Purina offices, Ohio and Court-sts.; fourth ward, north precinct, George Limebaugh's store, and south precinct, Sears and Nichols Co.

SEN. FESS CONCEDED

Davey Centers Campaign in North Ohio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—With the bitter primary campaign ending, in the minds of a majority of the voters at least, tonight, candidates whose political fortunes rise or fall at the election next Tuesday, spent the day making final appeals for support.

As the scores of candidates near the finish of a campaign that will go down in Ohio political annals as one of the most aggressive, no development appeared to clear the haze of uncertainty cloaking all but one of the class A races.

FESS SEEMS SURE

In the Republican contest for U. S. senator few impartial political observers gave anyone but the incumbent, Sen. Simeon D. Fess, much of a chance to win. This was not because Fess is without opposition within his own party, but rather because that opposition, while intense, is so evenly divided among the other candidates as to pale their chances.

No such circumstance marked the other three most important contests to be settled by the voters next Tuesday, the Democratic races for U. S. senator and governor, and the Republican contest for governor. Each was a "horse race" and promised to continue to be right down to the finish line.

Perhaps the bitterest of all the battles, involving the Democratic senatorial nomination, found Gov. George White pleading for votes in Cuyahoga county, where he is a resident. He was on the radio in Cleveland to urge nomination of Police and sheriff's authorities were notified at once and a description of the men was broadcast over state highway patrol station WPGQ.

U. S. Banks Holds Up Credits to Germany Until Debts Are Paid

WASHINGTON—George Peck's Import-Export Bank has made a very quiet but extremely important decision against credits to Germany until she settles her debts to American bondholders. Decision came after considerable debate. Peck, favoring credits and Southern cotton men, who make large sales to Germany, supporting him. But Cordell Hull was adamantly opposed. He won. When the Import-Export Bank for Russia made a decision against credits to the Soviet, it had tremendous reverberations in the press. The German decision, even more important, has made hardly a ripple.

MY CHURCH

William Henry Boddy has said, "My church enriched my childhood with the romance of religion and the lessons of life that have been woven into the texture of my soul. In the stress and storm of adolescence my church heard the surge of my soul and guided my footsteps by lifting my eyes toward the stars. When first my heart knew the strange awakenings of love my church taught me to chasten and spiritualize my affections. She sanctified my marriage and blessed my home. When my heart was seamed with sorrow and I thought the sun could never shine again, my church drew me to the Friend of all the weary and whispered to me the hope of another morning eternal and tearless. When my steps have slipped and I have known the bitterness of sin, my church has believed in me and called me back to live within the heights of myself. My church calls me to her heart. She asks my service and loyalty. She has a right to ask it. I will help her do for others what she has done for me."

Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Summer Wells, whom many Cubans regard as a hard-hearted despot, once found a baby brown thrasher in his garden. He put it in a cage and got up every morning at four to feed it. The bird is now three years old. Robert Woods Bliss, ex-Ambassador to Argentina, gives his guests paper towels when they use his spacious swimming pool.

Irish Laboratory

The River Shannon in Ireland is due for some intensive study by the Tennessee Valley Authority. David E. Lilienthal, executive of TVA is planning to visit the Irish Free State to see how the Irish Government distributes power from the Shannon. Roosevelt also has given some long distance study to the project through Irish Minister MacWhite.

When young Bob LaFollette was a student at the Capital's Western High School he sat next a girl during an exam on Chaucer's Canterbury Tales. She signaled for help. Bob came gallantly to the rescue, but the translation he gave her was wrong. Bob has stuck to politics ever since. The Logan (Iowa) "Observer," commenting the benefits of the President's plan for planting a thousand-mile belt of trees, writes: "No special mention is made of the happiness it may bring to a few million dogs."

Infinitive Ikes

Not content with buying tremendous quantities of scrap iron from the United States, a Japanese vessel put in at the Virgin Islands recently and hoisted all the junked iron and old vessels sunk in a ship graveyard. It was the first Japanese ship seen in these waters in years. Next to dishonesty in government, Secretary of Interior Ikes hates a split infinitive. Once he nearly fired a man for drifting a letter for him to sign which contained split infinitive. But one of Ikes' assistants later caught him warning against the use of "a preposition to end a sentence with." The Devil Dogs are peeved because nine rear admirals have been appointed to select three brigadier generals of the Marine Corps for promotion to be Major Generals. The Marines want to know what the Navy knows about real fighting, also why it should take nine rear admirals to select three brigadier generals. Finally the Devil Dogs point out that this promotion job should have been left to retired Marine Corps major generals such as John A. Lejeune, famous commander of the Second Division; "Old Gimlet Eye" Smedley D. Butler, Generals Feland, Pendleton and others.

Book Review

The Bible looks you over by Phelps. The Judson Press, is a compilation of 33 essays which help us see ourselves in the light of some of the less familiar characters of the Bible, revealing a modern Christian philosophy of life.

Is Newspaper Advertising a Good Investment for Churches? At recent meeting of the editorial council of the Religious Press the following facts were reported:

The most successful business advertisers continue to spend more money in newspapers than in any other medium. The church should be equally wise. The church has the best things in life to offer humanity, the saving and regenerating gospel of Jesus Christ. To reach all of the public with its message it ought to supplement its regular established church channels by using the public press, religious and secular, a medium which has been demonstrated to be instantly effective for powerful and permanent persuasion of the people. A medium also which gives greatest material values for each dollar invested. Press and pulpit united in a Christianity crusade can pull mankind out of the abyss of sin, sorrow and suffering. Church laws has a legitimate claim on news columns, but in addition the church ought to use paid advertising space liberally. In Japan newspaper evangelism has for several years been a success.

The National Council of Federated Church Women recently held its sixth annual conference in Kansas City, Mo. It was organized 6 years ago in Buffalo, N. Y., by a group of thirty church women in response to a need of unifying Protestant womanhood. It has grown to 2200 organizations with a membership of 23,000,000 women. The next meeting will be in Rochester, N. Y.

The executive committee of the World's Student Christian Federation will hold its annual session from Aug. 10-14 at La Chataignerie near Geneva preceded by an international Student Conference at which the principal subject will be "Evangelization."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York has gone to Europe where as American delegate he will attend the meetings in Geneva of the International Jewish Congress Aug. 20-21.

The ninth World's Christian Endeavor Convention will be held in Budapest, Hungary in August 1935. Budapest is a city of one million inhabitants and has one of the most remarkable Christian Endeavor Unions in the world.

Recent discoveries of pottery by an expedition into southern Transjordan seems to put the date of the Exodus of the Israelites from Egypt in the 13th century B. C. instead of the 15th as has been held by many Bible students. The expedition also found rich deposits of copper and iron ore, which they believe were one of the sources of the vast wealth of King Solomon.

Lesson for August 12

AMOS PLEADS FOR JUSTICE

LESSON TEXT—Amos 5:1-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Love worketh as ill to his neighbor: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law. Romans 13:10.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Good Preacher and a Bad King.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Country Boy Who Became a Great Preacher.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Standing for God Against the Crowd.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Social Justice as a Universal Duty.

I. Israel's Desolation Predicted (vv. 1-3).

1. The prophet's lamentation (v. 1). Amos lamented over the doom which was to overtake the nation. The prophet is thus represented as entering into the sorrow which was to overtake Israel.

2. The nation's utter desolation and helplessness (vv. 2, 3). Israel is called a virgin because she had never been subdued by any foreign nation (Isa. 23:12). Her falling, no more to rise, sets forth utter desolation and helplessness to which the Assyrians subjected the nation.

II. The Urgent Call for the People to Return to God (vv. 4-9).

God through the prophet said, "Seek ye me and ye shall live." The implication is that while as yet the divine judgments are not executed, an opportunity is offered for them to turn to God. The time to repent is while judgment is stayed. In their turning to God they were called

1. To renounce idolatry (vv. 5, 6). They were to turn away from the places of idolatry—Bethel, Gilgal, and Beer-sheba. The judgment of God was to strike these places. He urged them the second time to seek the Lord, promising them life. He made it clear on the other hand that if they would not come to the Lord for life he would be their destroyer.

2. To cease to pervert judgment (v. 7). "Turn judgment to wormwood" implies the bitterness to the injured of the perversion of justice.

3. To cease to debase righteousness (vv. 7-9). "Leaving off righteousness" means that unrighteousness was allowed to take its place. For the third time he urged them to seek the Lord. In this exhortation the Lord's name is given, with a statement of some of his works.

a. "Maketh the seven stars and Orion."

b. "Turneth the shadow of death into the morning."

c. "Maketh the day dark with night."

d. "Calleft for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth" both in rain and in deluge.

e. "Strengtheneth the spoiled against the strong."

III. The Sins Committed by the Wicked Nation (vv. 10-13).

1. They hated the judge who condemned their wicked practices (v. 10).

2. They abhorred him that spoke uprightly (v. 10). This probably refers to the prophets themselves.

3. They trampled upon the poor (v. 11). The rich, built magnificent houses out of the gains extorted from the poor, but the prophet assured them that God would not permit them to live in the houses nor drink of the wine thereof.

4. They afflicted the just (v. 12). They did by taking a bribe. What a picture this of our own time!

5. They turned aside the poor in the gate (v. 12). Because the poor had no money they were turned aside. The times were so evil that the prudent would best keep silent.

IV. The Prophet's Plea for Repentance (vv. 14, 15).

No condition in the world, religious, social, or political, can become so difficult that the righteous are shut off from help. The righteous can

1. Seek God (v. 14). Those who seek God shall have with them the Lord of Hosts.

2. Hate the evil (v. 15). It is not enough merely to love the good; evil must be hated.

3. Establish judgment in the gate (v. 15). It was the custom in that day for the courts of justice to sit in the gate of the city. The prophet urged upon them the responsibility of placing honorable men in charge of public affairs.

V. The Judgment to Fall (vv. 16-20).

There is a coming day of retribution. Justice and right shall be vindicated. This will be realized in the day of the Lord (1 Thess. 5:1-10). James 5:7. All wrong shall be righted at that time.

VI. Worship Which God Hates (vv. 21-27).

Sacrifices, observance of fast days, and even singing when the heart is out of fellowship with God is most displeasing to him. Worship without holiness of life is an abomination to God.

Thankfulness
A childlike thankfulness maketh us love our Father more than his gift, and desire to be with him, in his arms.—Richard Baxter.

The Price of Success

At the close of one of Mr. Padewski's concerts an enthusiastic listener rushed up to him and exclaimed, "Oh, Mr. Padewski, what a great genius you are!" The great pianist answered, "Madam, I have no genius. When I was a child I did not enjoy music and I was backward in it. I have reached my present efficiency by many hours of hard practice."

Henry Clay when a boy at school dreaded above all else to speak before the class, yet he in time became one of the greatest orators of his time.

Many other examples could be named of those who have made success in spite of many obstacles and with no more than ordinary native talent.

VOTE AT THE PRIMARY ELECTION TUESDAY, AUG. 14

Circleville, Ohio August 11th, 1934
To the Voters of Pickaway County:
I have submitted my name as a candidate for nomination, in next Tuesday's Primary, for the office of County Treasurer. In the past several weeks I have attempted to meet as many of the people of Pickaway County as possible, but there are some who I have not had the opportunity of calling on personally and I wish to take this means of reaching those with this appeal for their support of my candidacy.
I am now a resident of Circleville, but have spent the major portion of my life until the month of March, 1933, in farming, stock raising and stock buying, making my home in Jackson and Deer Creek Townships for over fifty years engaged in those pursuits.
It has been a pleasure and an encouragement to meet the people whom I have talked to concerning my candidacy and I promise you readers as I have promised my friends whom I have met during the course of this campaign, a faithful and economical administration of the Treasurer's office. I have made every attempt to conduct a clean campaign and have asked of my supporters to say nothing in the furtherance of my interest that would detract in any way from the reputations of my opponents.
Signed,

To the Voters of Pickaway County:
Due to the impossibility of seeing every voter personally before the Primary election, because of the fact that my office demands constant attention, I desire to issue the following statement to all the voters of Pickaway-co:
During my term of office as Sheriff of Pickaway County I have conscientiously endeavored to give the people of this county an efficient, honest and economical administration. I have attempted to aid the taxpayers by operating the office economically as possible. In feeding the prisoners I have used nothing but Pickaway County goods whenever possible.
No major crime committed during my administration remains unsolved. Through the efficiency of my deputies, evidence against various criminals has been so strong that in the greatest majority of the cases they have pleaded guilty, thereby saving the county much in court costs, jury fees and witness fees.
I have made every effort to treat all persons alike in enforcing the laws of this State, and to cooperate successfully with all city, county and state officials.
I rely entirely upon the record of my administration as an enforcer of the law, and your support will be greatly appreciated.
Respectfully,
CHARLES H. RADCLIFF

Southern Ohio's Candidate for Lieutenant Governor

MILTON S. COX
Southern Ohio takes loyal pride in the candidacy of Honorable Milton S. Cox of McArthur, for Lieutenant Governor of Ohio. Mr. Cox is a native-born Vinton countian and throughout his life has been a loyal booster for everything for the improvement of his home county.
The love of the vine clad hills of Southern Ohio was a magnet that could not be withstood and he returned to make his home amid the scenes of his childhood. He again returned to his early profession and served with distinction as superintendent of the McArthur schools and as county superintendent for many years. He was selected as Deputy Prohibition Commissioner by Governor White and filled the position creditably until the department was discontinued. At this time he was transferred to the State Tax Commission with which he is now associated and holds a responsible position.
His ability, honesty and sterling worth were so well appreciated that he was elected to the 73rd General Assembly from the Hocking-Vinton district. Later he entered railroad service in the capacity of yardmaster for the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad and was promoted to general yardmaster of the Washash-Pittsburgh terminal at Pittsburgh after which he served in the same capacity for the Santa Fe, Northern Pacific and the government in the construction of the nitro explosive plant at Nitro, West Virginia.
Southern Ohio is pleased with the splendid achievements of this loyal son and will speak its appreciation on Tuesday, August 14th, 1934.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

3 JOIN PRO RANKS

ITS INTERESTING TO READ that three Buckeye grid stars, Ted Rosequist, Sid Gillman, and Joe Galtus will join the ranks of professional football this fall.

Rosequist goes with the world's champion, the Chicago Bears. Gillman joins the Boston team, and Galtus goes to Detroit which city purchased the Portsmouth Spartan franchise. Galtus will be a teammate of Glen Presnell, Dutch Clark and others, incidentally Presnell has finally decided not to coach this fall but to rejoin the pro ranks going along with the rest of the Portsmouth players to Detroit. Gillman will be with Ernie Pinkert, Cliff Battles and other stars at Boston while Rosequist will be under Red Grange, Broder Nagurski and their clan.

GOOD PITCHING MARK

Some great pitching records are being made this year by some of the two leagues' best hurlers. Take for instance Dizzy Dean's 21 victories. Schoolboy Rowe's twelfth straight victory, Friday, while the Tigers were winning their tenth in a row. Carl Hubbell tallying his 17th of the year at the same time that Lefty Gomez knocked off his 19th. And while you're speaking of stellar performances Ed Grier did pretty well for the Red Sox Friday night blanking the slugging Milwaukee Brewers to win 7-0 after the Braves had won a twilight fray, 10 to 5, smacking Jimmie Jim Elliott.

SCRAMBLED FACTS

Jack Wilson has signed with the Philadelphia Phillies; the best Harry Short could do at the U-bana fair, Friday, was fifth place with Harry Van; Hal Anderson, who has been in a long hitting slump, smacked four bingles for the Birds Friday night; The Given Oils took another lesson from Laurelville Friday evening by an 8-6 score.

The corn crop is forecast at 1,607,108,000 bushels, which is 700,000,000 bushels under last year and 900,000,000 under the 5-year average.

INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING THE MAN WHO IS ASKING TO Be OHIO'S NEXT U. S. SENATOR

Economy in Government

Upon a corner stone of economy in government, George White has built a record of two terms in governorship, greater than in any like period in Ohio's history. After his predecessor had set an ALL-TIME HIGH total of $88,889,270 for cash operating expenditures of the state in 1930, George White reduced the figure to $79,242,937 in 1931, to $73,520,019 in 1932 and to $60,286,900 in 1933. To effect such economies, reductions in salaries of state employees and in administrative expense of state offices were applied and the cost of state government in Ohio under George White has been cut from $13.81 under his predecessor to $7.92 per capita, according to U. S. Department of Commerce figures. THE LOWEST OF ANY STATE IN THE UNION.

Fight for Schools

George White has continuously waged a vigorous battle in the Legislature for OHIO'S SCHOOLS, and by presenting an emergency school financing plan in the Special Session of the Legislature last June, HE HAS MADE AVAILABLE FUNDS TO MEET THE SCHOOL EMERGENCY.

This plan provides for:

1. Re-enactment of the liquid fuel tax to be distributed upon the basis of average daily attendance in public schools.
2. Legislation correcting the statutes to conform to the ten mill limitation so schools would be enabled to levy taxes with which to operate during 1935.
3. Making available funds for the purpose of financing weak school districts during the remainder of 1934.
4. Legislation permitting state and school districts to borrow against anticipated revenues for the purpose of paying teachers' salaries and bills to July 1, 1934.

Minimum Wage Law

Another outstanding contribution of Ohio to the Roosevelt recovery program was the passage of a STATE MINIMUM WAGE LAW. This act, regulating employment of women and girls and prohibiting sweat shop evils, was advocated by George White to benefit workers in industries.

Taxes

A necessity for new taxes is due solely to the plight of local subdivisions caused by the reduction of the 15 mill tax on real estate, the reduction in the tax duplicate amounting to 1-3 the value and tax delinquencies which have reached the amazing proportion of $200,000,000. Recognizing the necessity for the raising of funds to replace these losses, George White advocated the placing of a tax upon utilities, income, and a sales tax as the basis for a definite program.

Public Utilities

Utility companies, during three and one-half years of George White's Administration have been ordered to refund $16,575,387.00 to consumers. Compare this with the six year administration of Mr. Donahay, when ordered refunds amounted to only $194,385.00, or with the two year administration of Mr. Y. Cooper when ordered refunds amounted to $115,417.00 and the two year administration of Harry L. Davis when ordered refunds amounted to only $26,300.00. Refunds ordered by the Public Utilities Commission represent charges for excessive rates collected by utilities and these excesses are ordered to be returned to the users. In some cases these orders necessitated a reduction in rates. AN ADDITIONAL TAX, YIELDING $15,000,000.00 sponsored by George White, was placed on public utilities in Ohio designed to provide sufficient funds for the destitute citizens of Ohio.

Relief for the Distressed

At the outset of the economic crisis, George White set up a State Relief Commission whose operations in providing direct relief, employment and other aids has enabled Ohio among the first to swing into action in making effective that New Deal relief project, UNDER GEORGE WHITE'S LEADERSHIP JOBS WERE PROVIDED within 27 days FOR 247,000 OHIO MEN AND WOMEN who formerly had been on state, federal or community relief rolls.

Building-Loan Legislation

Ohio was the first state with its legislature convened in special session by George White to consider building and loan laws made possible by the new federal provision for insurance of deposits and shares in such financial institutions. Assured of the passage of this act and the housing act for small home owners as part of the Roosevelt program, George White immediately summoned the legislature for the purpose of making available to Ohioans AT THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT ALL OF THE BENEFITS intended by Congress. Other laws passed at his request to assist distressed home owners had empowered courts to halt the sale of real estate under foreclosure until 1935.

Old Age Pension System

George White vigorously advocated adoption of the initiated pension proposal when it was submitted to the voters. Approval of the plan by the electorate was followed quickly by establishment of an old age pension division in the state welfare department, from which PENSION CHECKS HAVE ALREADY BEEN SENT OUT.
